

Ergo Tip of the Month - May 2007

Survey Results and Future Direction

A very warm thank you to all of you who invested a portion of your time to respond to our Ergo Tip of the Month Survey! We truly appreciate and value all of your feedback, comments and ideas for future topics, and are committed to building your feedback into our upcoming issues of the Sandalwood Ergo Tip of the Month.

Here's a brief summary, based on your Survey Response:

We will continue to publish and send the Ergo Tip on a monthly basis.
(81% of respondents agreed)

We will continue to present the Ergo Tip in its current length and format (81% and 85% of responses, respectively). Perhaps with a few surprises!

Our focus will be toward intermediate to advanced level Tips (a combined 88% of responses) with some fun, basic level tips in the mix as well.

Office and Manufacturing environments account for 64% of our audience, with great representation from healthcare, technical, government, military, consulting and educational fields, among others. As a result, our Tips will continue to relate to Office and Manufacturing issues, and will expand to provide Tips relevant to the other professional areas identified.

We are developing a schedule to address each of your future topic ideas and requests in upcoming issues of our Sandalwood Ergo Tip of the Month. Feel free to continue to send us requests for topics you would like covered and....stay tuned!

We are pleased to report that as of our December 2006 Ergo Tip of the Month, a PDF version of the Tip has been available for download. This feature was added as a direct result of feedback we received in the November survey.

Thanks again for your input!
